FLM Future Leaders of Metalcasting

Invitation to October FLM Meeting at General Motors

This fall, tour the General Motors Defiance Casting Operations and learn communication techniques for working with different generations in the workplace.

The General Motors Casting Operations tour in Defiance, Ohio, is a unique opportunity to learn about how the facility casts high quality cylinder blocks and crankshafts for V6 and V8 engines used in some of GM's exciting new vehicles.

In addition to a great tour, prepare yourself for communication in the workplace with Rick Lochner's interactive presentation: Generational Diversity—Why Don't They Understand? In order to succeed in your workplace, an effective communication strategy is essential. Lochner will help you navigate your workplace and present you with a better understanding of the differences between generations and how they can be used as an advantage for a common vision and strategy.

Seating is limited, register at www.afsinc.org/FLM
